Description

This high jumper award was done for KFC. They use it to celebrate the people who go above and beyond in their service. They intend to show that if it were not for the dedication and high performance, that an important task would be possible.

It has a brass bar to jump over with a metal pole a wood figurine. The whole piece sits beautifully on a multi level wood block. We have made similar awards from different materials so ask the creative team about the options.
